Award-winning mystery and crime novelist Laura Lippman will read from and discuss her new novel “Life Sentences” at White Oak Library on Wednesday, April 15 at 7 p.m. The White Oak Library is located at 11701 New Hampshire Avenue, Silver Spring.

Lippman was a reporter for 20 years, including 12 years with “The Baltimore Sun.” She has lived in Baltimore since 1989. Her books include a series of mysteries about the ‘accidental’ private investigator Tess Monaghan, plus a number of stand alone best-selling novels, including “Every Secret Thing” and “What the Dead Know.” She has received numerous recognitions for her writings, including the Edgar, the Anthony, the Shamus, the Nero Wolfe, Gumshoe and Barry awards.

“Life Sentences” tells the story of a writer named Cassandra who returns to Baltimore to write a memoir about the friends with whom she grew up. Cassandra also seeks to relay the story of a childhood classmate who spent time in prison under suspicion of murdering her own son. In general, the novel addresses the vagaries of memories, friendships, and love.

The program is sponsored by The Friends of the Library, White Oak Chapter, which will offer “Life Sentences” and other of Lippman’s books for sale.

To request ADA program accommodations, at least five work days in advance, or for more information, contact the White Oak Library at 240-773-9555.
